

As little as $1 will make a big difference for a family in need.

Some of our neighbors will not be able to afford to heat their homes this winter. By simply checking the Washington Area Fuel Fund box on the Washington Gas bill stub that you return with your payment, and adding as little as $1 to your payment, you can make a big difference for a family that needs help.

Winter can be especially challenging for many families in the Washington metropolitan area. Rising prices and colder-than-normal temperatures could leave many families unable to heat their homes.

To help meet this critical need, Washington Gas created the Washington Area Fuel Fund (WAFF). For 25 years, WAFF has paid for all types of fuel to heat the homes of families in need. Because Washington Gas pays WAFF's administrative expenses and The Salvation Army administers the fund, every dollar of your tax-deductible contribution goes directly to supply heat for families. When all other government assistance has run out, or simply isn't available, WAFF is the last safety net. It relies heavily on the contributions of neighbors like you.

If you are already contributing to WAFF please see the back of this insert for additional ways to help.

(Please turn over for ways to give.)
